Intersec Buenos Aires launches its new edition

Floor space will be allocated next Wednesday, October 10th, for all companies that want to secure their place in 2018 at preferential rates

With little less than a year before its next edition, the most important event for the Fire, Security & Safety industry in South America begins welcoming exhibitors. Intersec Buenos Aires offers a unique three-day window that brings together all the market's supply and demand.

On October 10th, floor spaces will be awarded at La Rural Trade Center, formally launching the exhibition's commercialization. Those who participate can obtain important benefits, such as financing and promotional rates in the value per m2.

It is worth noting that 150 exhibitors and 13,193 entrepreneurs and professionals from the sector visited the previous edition. Attendance for 2018 is expected to increase, and for that reason the organizers have decided to add a new pavilion to the trade fair.

"We are receiving a lot of inquiries, and notice a great deal of interest from the market," says Ezequiel Gorbarán, the exhibition's Project Manager. "We see an active market, constantly growing. This edition, the objective is to increase the floor space while maintaining the service quality that makes us stand out as organizers."
